RACHEL MARR

By MORLEY ROBERTS

Author of "The Promotion of the Admiral," "The Fugitives," etc., etc. 12mo, $1.50.

NEVER HAVE THE CRITICS, who really criticise, been so unanimous as in their praise of Mr. Roberts's masterpiece. This WONDERFUL HUMAN story was published July 20th, and has gone through two editions in ten days.

THE THIRD EDITION WILL BE READY AUGUST 15

SOME EDITORIAL OPINIONS

"Rachel Marr is WITHOUT A RIVAL in its own field, (N. Y. World). It is a splendidly wrought book,—STRONG as the winds and the waves are strong, (Chicago Record-Herald); and has TRUE GENIUS and absolutely PERFECT ATMOSPHERE, (Boston Transcript). This frank narrative of the elemental woman with the breadth that is not too broad, has the 'LIFE FORCE' of Bernard Shaw, (N. Y. Sun); and the PERILOUS SITUATIONS are handled with DELICACY and rare TACT," (N. Y. Evening Post).

THE MOTOR PIRATE

By G. SIDNEY PATERNOSTER

With frontispiece and cover design by BLANCHE McMANUS. 12mo, $1.50.

In our advance announcement of "The Motor Pirate" in the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY for July 9th we showed our confidence in it by predicting for this CLEVEREST of AUTOMOBILE STORIES a large sale. It has caught the public; and since July 15th we have twice been UNABLE TO SUPPLY the demand.

We quote from among the great mass of reviews The Boston Herald, because it tells you in a few words, without undue praise, just what the book is:

"This RATTLING GOOD MOTOR YARN spins along at as lively a pace as the highwayman motorist himself. Its originality, exciting ADVENTURES, into which is woven a CHARMING LOVE THEME, and its undercurrent of FUN, furnishes a DASHING DETECTIVE STORY which a MOTOR MAD WORLD will thoroughly enjoy reading."

Jiu-Jitsu Combat Tricks

By H. IRVING HANCOCK

Author of "Japanese Physical Training," etc.

12°, 32 Illustrations from Life (by mail $1.35), $1.25.

In this his fourth volume, Mr. Hancock presents a long series of advanced and highly scientific feats of attack and defense that are practiced by Japanese experts in Jiu-Jitsu. With a thorough knowledge of these feats, such as may be gained from a study of the book, one does not need to be a man of brawn and muscle in order to overcome a powerful opponent. Every trick of assault that is offered to the reader commences from a standing position. Boxing is powerless before Jiu-Jitsu, and much space is devoted to the subject of "stopping" blows with fists.

SUBJECT: THE MARVELOUS LAND OF OZ

TO THE TRADE:

In preparing for the publication of THE MARVELOUS LAND OF OZ we felt sanguine of success, and printed a first edition of 10,000 copies. We did not, however, anticipate a sale of nearly 30,000 books from July 5th to date, nor that our customers would call for the shipment in July of 12,795 copies.

On July 26th we ordered a second printing of 20,000 copies, but it will be about August 22d before any of this edition will be ready for shipment. It is therefore necessary to ask the indulgence of such of our customers as have placed orders, for immediate delivery, which we could not fill in full for the present. Of course all shall have some.

Every effort will be made to fill all orders before Sept. 1st, and thereafter have ample stock on hand. Paper for third edition (20,000) is being manufactured.

If you have not already ordered THE MARVELOUS LAND OF OZ we advise you to do so at once—either through your jobber—or direct of

Yours very truly,

THE REILLY & BRITTON CO.,

NOTES IN SEASON.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have just added to their popular Children's Friend Series "Morning Glories and Queen Aster," by Louisa M. Alcott, and "Father Gander's Melodies," by Adelaide F. Samuel.

THE HAMMERSMARK PUBLISHING COMPANY, 151 Wabash Avenue, Chicago, have just brought out, in an inexpensive form, a translation of Count Tolstoy's remarkable essay on the Russian-Japanese war, under the title of "Bethink Yourselves."

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co., Boston, have just ready a volume of humorous automobile stories, with the same characters appearing in each story, entitled "Dennis McGrath, Autocrat, and other horseless tales hanging thereby," by Edward Potter.

THE LOTHROP PUBLISHING COMPANY will publish next month Wallace Burgess Smith's "Looking for Alice," with forty pictures by C. Howard, showing some extraordinary things discovered by the heroine while looking for Alice. At about the same time they will bring out Mr. Stoddard's new book, "The Long Bridge Boys," with illustrations by I. B. Hazelton.

ROHDE & HASKINS, 16 Cortlandt Street, New York, will bring out next month a volume entitled "Toasts and Tributes," compiled and edited by Arthur Gray, author of several clever and successful booklets, such as "Tobacco in Song and Story," "The Little Tea Book," etc. The volume will be attractively gotten up, so that it may serve a purpose as a gift book as well as a library reference book.

THOMAS Y. CROWELL & Co. will publish shortly Count Tolstoy's article on the war, entitled "Bethink Yourselves!" which recently attracted world-wide attention upon its publication in the London Times. The Times itself characterized it as "a remarkable document," in view not only of the nationality of the author, but also of his widely divergent views on warfare and present-day methods.

THE REILLY & BRITTON Co., Chicago, announce that from July 5 to July 26 they had orders for 12,795 copies of Baum's new book, "The Marvellous Land of Oz." A second edition of 20,000 copies is now on press, but will not be ready for shipping until August 22, so that they must ask the indulgence of such of their customers as have placed orders for immediate delivery. Paper for a third edition (20,000 copies) is being manufactured.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY is about to publish "The Masters of English," by Stephen Gwynn, the author of "John Maxwell's Marriage," a handy manual of English literature from Chaucer to Tennyson, with biographical and critical notices and quotations; a handy little biography of Whistler, by Mrs. Arthur Bell, in Bell's Miniature Series of Painters, with reproductions of some of Whistler's best pictures; also the Globe edition, in one volume, of "The Works of Tennyson," including his entire writings, not excepting the plays and the works of his later years.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish in September a new book by Myrtle Reed, author of "Lavender and Old Lace," etc., to be entitled "The Master's Violin." It is a captivating love story written in the author's gentlest and happiest vein. The volume will be daintily printed and bound in the same general style as "Lavender and Old Lace." They will publish at the same time "Jiu-Jitsu Combat Tricks," by H. Irving Hancock, with thirty-two illustrations from life, in which the author presents a long series of advanced and highly scientific feats of attack and defense that are practiced by Japanese experts in jū-jitsu.

He was called to the bar in the early part of last century. His great-uncle was also a barrister of the same Inn with himself, the Middle Temple. There are two or three stories, those, for instance, relating to Queen Elizabeth and Bunyan, which should be called traditions of the family rather than reminiscences."—Preface.

In the latest novel, by the author of "Blennerhasset" and "Quincy Adams Sawyer" the letter H is an interesting omen; the enigmatical letter was a birthmark on the forehead of one of the characters, for that reason it wrought disturbance in the lives of several in the story, notably in the life of the heroine, who was a victim of parental influences. The interest centres in the dual nature and singular action of this girl. The scenes are southern.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

PER LAMM, the successor to the Librairie
 Nilsson, Paris, has just brought out the fifteenth volume of the "Catalogue général de librairie française," continuing the celebrated work of Otto Lorenz, and completing the period from 1891 to 1899. The work, which has been edited under the able direction of D.
 Jordell, includes only the publications in the departments of science, art and literature, and of these evidently only the more important.
 It is not, however, restricted to the books published in France, but considers also those published in the French language in Belgium,
 Switzerland, Germany and elsewhere.
 (1059 p. 8°.) The same firm has also brought together the twelve monthly parts of the "Répertoire bibliographique de la librairie française," for 1903, edited by D. Jordell, and furnished them with an alphabetical index.
 (168+92 p. 8°.)

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 13, 1904.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

BEARING OF "CASTAWAY" DECISION ON RIGHT TO CONTROL PRICE.

THE decision of Judge Holland, in "The Castaway" case, practically points out to the plaintiffs a technical mistake which seems to have been made by their legal advisers in the framing of the notice under which they propose to protect the price of this volume, and in the legal handling of the suit against Sneltenburg & Co. As copyright in itself does not concern price, it was probably an error to associate the price limitation with the copyright protection. Under previous decisions of the federal courts, the owner of a patent or copyright can avail himself of the "monopoly" protection given under the Constitution to sell his goods under such limitations as he may desire to establish; but it does not follow from this that the price is a subject of copyright. This seems to be the essence of Judge Holland's decision, the text of which has not yet come to hand; but it is only that the manner or method and not the protection itself that is involved in this ruling.

The copyright proprietor has the right to establish and enforce a contract or license arrangement, which shall be binding so far as the contract or license extends. Such legal rights, though based on copyright monopoly, must be enforced under the laws of contract or license, not under copyright laws. It may be presumed, therefore, that the Bobbs-Merrill Company will "modify" their notice in "The Castaway" in future publications, and seek a redress from the courts in case the terms of their contract or license are broken. While it is unfortunate that technical mistakes have been made in this case, as in the course of the litigation under the American Publishers' Association plan, it is to be noted that any seeming incidental defeats in the endeavor to carry out trade reform have been connected, not with the principle involved, but with the methods by which it was attempted to enforce, or in the endeavor to stretch the principle, as in the case of non-copyright books, beyond its proper and possible limits.

THE LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD COMPANY.

THE entire assets of the Lothrop Publishing Company, 530 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, which has been in the hands of assignees since February 13, including stock, fixtures, accounts receivable, contracts and copyrights, have been purchased by Lee & Shepard, together with the assumption of all obligations incurred during the management of the business by the assignees. The full amount, which is not given out, was paid in cash, and the assignees will immediately declare a substantial preliminary dividend to the creditors of the Lothrop Company, holding in reserve enough to cover matters still unsettled. The businesses thus combined will at once be incorporated as the Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Company, with the present manager for Lee & Shepard, Mr. W. F. Gregory, as treasurer and general manager. The publications of the two uniting houses will be kept as usual through the present season and the travelling salesmen will make no change in their plans. It is also understood that both imprints will be retained for the future, and the two well-known lines will not be allowed to lose their identity. This community of interest will perpetuate the names of two of Boston's oldest and best-known publishing houses, and cannot fail to result in prosperity, as it will give the new management the control of one of the largest and most attractive lines of juveniles. The famous "Pepper Books," by "Margaret Sidney," (Mrs. Daniel Lothrop,) will, of course, be at the front, and other well-known juveniles on the Lothrop list are the books by "Pansy," Elbridge S. Brooks, W. O. Stoddard and others; while on the Lee & Shepard list are the popular books by J. T. Trowbridge, "Oliver Optic," Elijah Kellogg, Edward Stratemeyer, Amanda M. Douglas, "Sophie May," Amy Brooks, A. T. Dudley, and many promising new writers. While pre-eminent in juveniles, other lines will not be neglected by the new corporation, and the Lothrop fiction, which has become notable, will be continued. It is probable that the prospective Lothrop, Lee & Shepard Company will soon be installed in commodious new offices, centrally located.

In 1892 occurred the death of Mr. Daniel Lothrop, founder of D. Lothrop & Company, (subsequently the D. Lothrop Company,) who originated a new class of literature for children and youth. In 1894, there being no members of the family to carry on the business, it was decided to liquidate, which was done in a way that called forth at the time universal commendation from the press—the family, who were the principal creditors, refusing to put forward their claims, waiving all their rights until assured that every other claim was paid. This was done in full. The new corporation, the Lothrop Publishing Company, which has now consolidated with Lee & Shepard, had therefore no one of the family or name of Lothrop.

PROGRESS IN BOOK PRODUCTION IN RUSSIA, 1887-1901.

NIKOLAI RUBAKIN, in the Russkaja Myssl, presents a series of interesting statistics, based upon official data, showing the progress of publishing, quantitatively, in Russia during the fifteen years from 1887 to 1901, as follows:

|                             |                   |
|-----------------------------|-------------------|
| 1887.....                   | 18,540,390 copies |
| 1888.....                   | 17,395,150 "      |
| 1889.....                   | 18,777,891 "      |
| 1890.....                   | 18,353,126 "      |
| 1891.....                   | 22,918,105 "      |
| 1892 (the famine year)..... | 24,819,933 "      |
| 1893.....                   | 27,224,903 "      |
| 1895.....                   | 35,512,814 "      |
| 1898.....                   | 44,221,864 "      |
| 1901.....                   | 58,529,480 "      |

From the above figures it appears that until 1891 the demand for literature was weak, but that after that year the increase was decided—trebling from 1887 to 1901. Of course, an output of fifty-eight and one-half million books and pamphlets for a nation counting one hundred and thirty million inhabitants of which about forty millions are able to read is even yet not very considerable, averaging as it does not more than two books a year for each adult reader. The increase may be directly attributed to the development of public schools and education in general. In 1887 29.26 per cent. of the army recruits were able to read; in 1898 the percentage rose to 40.15.

The following table shows the demand by classes:

| Classes:   | Titles. | No. of copies printed. |
|--|---------|------------------------|
| Religious books.....                               | 1222    | 16,483,597             |
| Popular books in primitive and cheap editions..... | 457     | 8,778,670              |
| Text books.....                                    | 647     | 6,595,429              |
| Books for children.....                            | 427     | 3,243,943              |
| Belletristics.....                                 | 798     | 2,690,444              |
| Medical.....                                       | 763     | 1,058,025              |
| Agriculture.....                                   | 338     | 780,313                |
| Technical.....                                     | 604     | 750,943                |
| Jurisprudence.....                                 | 220     | 350,214                |
| Political and social.....                          | 164     | 337,097                |
| Fine arts.....                                     | 139     | 270,250                |
| Philology.....                                     | 156     | 223,992                |

The demand for single works in the different departments of literature is apparent from the following table:

|                        |        |
|------------------------|--------|
| Primitive fiction..... | 13,713 |
| Religious.....         | 13,489 |
| Text-book.....         | 8031   |
| Belletristic.....      | 2542   |

Among the religious books the most in demand are the New Testament and the gospels. Among the most popular authors are Tolstoy, Garshin, Pushkin, Lermontow, Gogol, Kalzow, Krylow, Tshechow, Gorky, and Korolenko.

INJUNCTION REFUSED IN "THE CASTAWAY" SUIT.

JUDGE HOLLAND, in the United States Circuit Court at Philadelphia, last week, refused to grant the injunction sued for by the Bobbs-Merrill Company to restrain Snellenburg & Co., the large department store concern in Philadelphia, from selling copies of "The Castaway" for less than the advertised price of one dollar.

Encouraged by the obiter dicta of Judges Lacombe, Parker and others, referring to the decisions in the Victor Talking Machine suits for violating the patent laws, that, inasmuch as the author has exclusive right to his writings under the monopoly of the copyright granted by Congress, the conditions under which such property is sold, even if they tend to keep up the monopoly or fix prices, does not render them illegal, the Bobbs-Merrill Company proceeded to test the law in its application to copyrights by giving the following notice in their novel, "The Castaway": "The price of this book at retail is One Dollar net. No dealer is licensed to sell it at a less price, and a sale at a less price will be treated as an infringement of the copyright."

From the newspaper reports—an official copy of the decision has failed to come to hand at the time we go to press—we learn that Judge Holland held that the publishers' notice that to sell the book for less than "One Dollar net" would be to violate the copyright laws was without authority, although the sale of the book for less than one dollar might be regarded as a violation of the publishers' contract with the venders.

JUBILEE OF A DANISH BOOK-TRADE JOURNAL.

THE Nordisk Boghandlertidende, the Danish booktrade journal, celebrated its fiftieth anniversary on July 1. The forerunners of this excellent periodical were the booksellers' order lists, ("forlangsedler,") published weekly since 1829. These order lists suggested to O. H. Delbanco, of the firm of C. C. Lose & Delbanco, of Copenhagen, the idea of a Dansk Boghandlertidende, the first number of which appeared July 1, 1854. Though the names of several bookselling firms appeared as publishers, the periodical was always the private enterprise of its first editor, Mr. Delbanco. At the close of the first year the periodical was able to depend upon 246 subscribers; in 1904 the number had been increased to 800, of which 375 are booksellers and the remainder paper dealers, bookbinders and printers. The fact that the periodical has a number of subscribers in Norway and Sweden is proof of its excellence, because Sweden has had a booktrade journal—the Svensk Bokhandelstidning—since 1853. In 1866, when the movement was afoot to unite the Northlands, it was proposed to make Delbanco's periodical the official booktrade journal for united Scandinavia, hence the change of the title to Nordisk Boghandlertidende. Though the union of the Scandinavian countries was not realized, and notwithstanding the fact that a Norwegian booktrade journal was started in 1879 by Freiberg and Landmark of Christiania—The Norsk Boghandlertidende—the Danish booktrade organ continues to print reports of the Swedish and Norwegian booktrade, and also presents regularly a complete Norwegian and a selected Swedish bibliography. A feature of the journal is its excellent Icelandic bibliography edited yearly from 1869 to 1893 by Sigurdur Jónasson, from 1893 to 1896 by Olafur Davidson, and since 1896 by Bogi Th. Melsted. After Delbanco's death, in 1890, at his testamentary request, the journal became the property of the Boghandlerforeningen and was edited by C. Jespersen. In 1893 J. L. Lybecker, of the firm of Schuboth, became editor. During its career Delbanco's journal has had but one competitor—Den nordiske Bogverden, a clever weekly that struggled along for a year and then gave up the ghost. We wish our esteemed contemporary, post festum, continued prosperity and an ever-widening circle of usefulness.

OBITUARY.

CHARLES WILLIAM SEVER.

CHARLES WILLIAM SEVER, whose name was connected for half a century with the University Bookstore at Cambridge, Mass., died

CHARLES WILLIAM SEVER.

July 19, at Kingston, Mass. Mr. Sever was born in Plymouth, Mass., July 1, 1834. As a boy he went to Cambridge, and in 1849 entered the employ of John Bartlett, the author of "Bartlett's Quotations," etc., the proprietor of the University Bookstore, then located at the corner of Holyoke Street, and Harvard Street, now Massachusetts Avenue. Some years later Mr. Bartlett became a member of the firm of Little, Brown & Co., disposing of the bookstore to a firm formed for the purpose, composed of Messrs. Sever, Allyn and Francis. About that time the bookstore was moved to the corner of Boylston Street, where J. H. Wyeth & Co.'s grocery store is now located. A few years later Mr. Francis died and Mr. Allyn withdrew to join Mr. Bacon in the publishing branch of the business that had been developed in Boston. This left the University Bookstore entirely to Mr. Sever. In 1872 the store was removed to its present location on Harvard Square, Mr. Sever conducting the business alone until 1894, when he associated with himself as partner George H. Kent, who has been conducting the business for several years. Mr. Sever, in addition to looking after his large bookstore, also did a considerable insurance and real estate business. Besides this, he was president of the Cambridge Savings Bank, of which he had been a trustee since 1874 and president since 1878, holding that position until his death. His firm was also the printers for the Harvard University until it opened a printing and publication office of its own.

Mr. Sever had been in poor health for nearly a year. In June he was granted a leave of absence from the bank, after which he went to his summer home at Kingston, in the hope that, by taking a prolonged rest, his health might be brought back. Since last May he had been seriously ill, though death was not by any means expected so soon. It was sudden at the end. He leaves a widow and five children—George F., who is assistant professor in the electrical department at Columbia University; Frank, who is with Lee, Higginson & Co., the Boston bankers; James W., a graduate of the Harvard Medical School and who is now connected with the Boston City Hospital; Misses Martha and Jane Sever.

Mr. Kent has assumed full management, and has made arrangements with the estate of Mr. Sever to conduct the business as heretofore until July 1, 1905, when it is expected a final settlement will be made.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JAMES MADISON MILLER, for twelve or fifteen years shipping clerk for Charles T. Dillingham and more recently with H. C. Holtin at the Christopher Street Ferry, New York, died suddenly at Chicago on August 4. He was born in New York City, February 9, 1849.

DR. EDUARD HANSLICK, a well-known musical critic and author, died at Vienna, August 7. Dr. Hanslick was born at Prague, September 11, 1825. He was at various times critic for the Wiener Zeitung, the Presse, and of the Neue Freie Presse. He became lecturer on musical history and æsthetics at the University of Vienna in 1861, and in 1870 was made a full professor, retiring from this post in 1895. Among his writings are: "Aus dem Concertsaal," "Die Moderne Oper," "Aufsätze über Musik und Musiker," and "Fünf Jahre Musik."

CHARLES WESLEY HARPER, the youngest son of Joseph Wesley Harper, the third in seniority of the four founders of the firm of Harper & Brothers, died on August 5, at Convent Station, N. J. Mr. Harper was born at the old Harper homestead in Brooklyn, at 103-105 Clark Street, in 1840. One of his older brothers, John Fletcher Harper, who was with the firm for a few years, died in early manhood, in 1865, while on a visit to China. His oldest brother, Joseph W. Harper, generally known as "Joe Brooklyn," was taken into the Harper firm in 1870, and remained one of the senior partners until his death, July 21, 1896. Charles Wesley Harper always had a liking for country life, and his father bought for him when he became of age a farm of some three hundred acres near Morristown, N. J. He was with his father's firm for a number of years, but in 1869 his active connection with the house ceased. His son, Joseph W. Harper, has been with the firm for many years, and is now the buyer for Harper & Brothers.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

CHARLES HEMSTREET, author of several books on old New York, has become manager of the Burrelle Press Clipping Bureau of New York.

SIGNOR G. FUMAGALLI, the well-known librarian at the Brera, Milan, is about to bring out a history of printing in Italy, entitled "Dictionnaire Géographique d'Italie pour servir à l'Histoire de l'Imprimerie dans ce Pays." It is arranged in five sections. The first will indicate the localities in Italy where and when printing has been introduced up to the present time; the second will furnish bibliographical notices of editiones principes of each city, town, private houses, etc.; and the remaining sections will deal with biographies of the most celebrated Italian printers, with statistical notices of the present state of printing in Italy, and with historical notices of the auxiliary arts of printing, such as lithography, engraving, paper-making, ink manufacture, and so forth. The price is fixed at 40 lire.

THE announcement in the London papers, without any comment, of a popular edition of the works of Mark Rutherford, edited by Reuben Shapcott, according to the New York Times Saturday Review, etc., "recalls to mind a romantic episode in contemporary literature the scene of which was laid in certain New York publishing houses. There was eager bidding in 1885 for this new English literary light, who, it was believed, marked the dawn of a new era. 'The Autobiography of Mark Rutherford' and 'Mark Rutherford's Deliverance,' edited by his friend, Reuben Shapcott, were secured and published here by Dodd, Mead & Co. These were followed by 'The Revolution in Tanner's Lane,' and a novel by the same author called 'Clara Hopgood.' It was only recently that it was found that the author had concealed himself under a double pseudonym and that his real name was William Hale White, a Kentish gentleman. His last work, 'Pages from a Journal,' bears the date of four years ago."

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE August issue of The Printing Art, published by the University Press, Cambridge, Mass., completes the third volume. It contains some notable examples of the high standard of modern photo-engraving in its application to the illustration of silver and other art ware. The uses of old style antique types are discussed, together with examples of rubricated book pages and commercial forms.

The Manhattan Quarterly is a literary magazine published by the students of Manhattan College, at Grand Boulevard and 131st Street, New York, during the months of January, April, July and October—the first issue being dated April. Though its primary object is to encourage among the students of Manhattan College literary composition, and to serve as a link between former students of Manhattan and their alma mater, it will also make a bid for readers among the general public by offering contributions on subjects of interest written by representative men in their various lines of mental activity. The current number, dated July, has, among others, an article on "The Steam Engine and its Rivals," by the late Professor Robert A. Thurston, of Cornell; "Choosing One's Books," by George Iles; "The Gaelic Movement," by Laeghaire, etc. The magazine is neatly printed and illustrated. The subscription price is $1 a year.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

HERBERT S. STONE & Co., Chicago, will publish at once a novel entitled "Roland of Altenburg," by Edward M. Woolley.

DODD, MEAD & Co. have in preparation a new volume of short stories by Paul Laurence Dunbar, entitled "The Heart of Happy Hollow."

J. S. OGILVIE PUBLISHING COMPANY, New York, will publish on the 25th inst. an edition of "The Letters Which Never Reached Him," in paper and in cloth covers.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have nearly ready a memoir of Aubrey De Vere, based on his unpublished diaries and correspondence, by Wilfrid Ward. "The Letters of Queen Victoria," edited by A. C. Benson and Viscount Esher, will be published in two volumes, although the date of publication has not yet been fixed.

THOMAS WHITTAKER, New York, will bring out in September a volume of sermons and addresses to young men, entitled "Comradeship and Character." It is contributed to by various preachers of note, among whom may be mentioned E. Griffith Jones, Thomas G. Selby, T. Rhondda Williams and J. Morgan Gibbon.

A. S. BARNES & Co. will publish in the fall, in their East and West Series for young readers, a new book by E. P. Weaver, entitled "The Search, a Story of the Old Frontier." The story tells a boy's journey from London to Philadelphia and to the Wilderness for the rescue of a captive in the colonial days when the frontier was in Western New York and Pennsylvania.

H. R. HUNTING & Co., 204 Worthington Street, Springfield, Mass., have in preparation a reprint of Sylvester Judd's "History of Hadley, including the early history of Hatfield, South Hadley, Amherst and Granby, Mass.," originally printed by Metcalf & Co., of Northampton, in 1863. The edition will be printed from type and will be limited, and the advance price, $4.50, will be raised after publication.

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. have in preparation Richard Le Gallienne's new book, "Painted Shadows;" "Susan Clegg and Her Friend Mrs. Lathrop," a collection of stories by Anne Warner, some of which are now appearing in The Century; also, "The Boy Captive of Old Deerfield," by Mrs. Mary P. Wells Smith, the first of a new series for boys and girls devoted to the attack by the French on Deerfield, Mass., and subsequent events.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY announce a fairy story of modern times entitled "The Pearl and the Pumpkin," by Paul West, with illustrations by W. W. Denslow. The story opens with the revels of the rustics of Vermont on Hallowe'en, when the charms and spells of the witches, goblins and fairies work so potently that the whole company is transported by these genii to a weird, strange land hitherto unknown. The spell is only broken after the arrival of the whole merry party at the beautiful green isles of Bermuda in the concluding chapters of the book.

PREPARATIONS are being made to make "Helen Keller Day," October 16, at the St. Louis Fair, an unusual demonstration. It is the first time in the history of any American fair that any special day has been set apart for an individual. All nations will do honor to this remarkable woman, whose emancipation from misfortunes has no peer in the whole country. Miss Keller's autobiography, "The Story of My Life," has been translated into seven languages, and is now being translated into two more. It has been called the most remarkable human document of the nineteenth century.

ISAAC H. BLANCHARD COMPANY, New York, has in press "Addresses at the Republican National Convention, 1904," compiled and edited by Henry Kanegsberg. The volume will present an exposition of the principles and politics of the Republican party, as well as an insight into the life, character, and public services of its candidates. It will contain the platform of 1904, sketches of the careers of President Roosevelt, Charles Warren Fairbanks, and George B. Cortelyou, the addresses of prominent Republican leaders present at the convention, the notification and acceptance speeches, etc.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & Co. will publish late this month and early in September "The Seeker," by Harry Leon Wilson, author of "The Spenders;" "Stories of Inventions," by Russell Doubleday; "Indoor and Outdoor Games," by Mrs. Burton Kingsland; "A Belle of the Fifties," by Mrs. Clay, of Alabama; a new enlarged edition of "A Few Remarks," by Simeon Ford, with a frontispiece portrait of the author; "Old Gorgon Graham," by George H. Lorimer, author of "Letters from a Self-Made Merchant to His Son;" also, the concluding parts of their large and superb illustrated "Poultry Book," the twelfth part being just ready for delivery.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have in preparation a new novel by Ralph Connor, (the Rev. Charles W. Gordon,) entitled "The Prospector." The scene is laid in the "Far West" of Canada, in the country leading up to the Crow's Nest Pass, a section of Canada made prominent in late years by the remarkable discoveries of gold, iron and coal, and the intense rivalry for railroad rights fought out in the Canadian Houses of Parliament. They have also under way a novel by Norman Duncan, entitled "Doctor Luke of the Labrador," and a new book by Frank T. Bullen, entitled "Denizens of the Deep," that does for the sea animals what Thompson Seton has done for those of the woods.

T. FISHER UNWIN, London, will publish shortly a small volume by Professor Goldwin Smith, entitled "My Memory of Gladstone," based on his review of Morley's "Life of Gladstone," prepared for the North American Review last year. Professor Goldwin Smith was often brought into contact with Gladstone, both socially and in the way of business, and in this volume he gives personal recollections, as well as a review and estimate of the great statesman's career. His estimate, though generally in accordance with Mr. Morley's, differs from it in some respects, particularly with regard to the Irish question. There are also some comments on Mr. Gladstone's literary work, which is not much noticed by Mr. Morley.

WITHIN the next two weeks E. P. Dutton & Company will publish in this country "Letters Which Never Reached Him," a series of letters written by a foreigner returning from Peking shortly before the siege of the legations in 1899, and addressed to a "Dear Friend" in the Orient who was killed before he could reach Shanghai, where the letters awaited him. The book is published anonymously, but the author is said to be a well-known lady of title and the editor the brother who accompanied her in her wanderings. The book was written both in German and in English by the author. The sales of the German version, which appeared first, have already run into the thousands. The English edition promises to be equally successful.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY will publish next month Lafcadio Hearn's new book, "Japan: an Attempt at Interpretation." The work is described as a more elaborate and thorough-going attempt at an explanation of the Japan of to-day than Mr. Hearn's previous works; the gathering together of all the results of his ten years among the Japanese. They will publish shortly "The Life and Letters" of the late Professor Edward Byles Cowell, written by Dr. George Cowell. Professor Cowell was an intimate friend of Edward Fitzgerald's, and it was he who made a copy of the Ouseley ms., just before he went to India in 1856, and lent it to Fitzgerald. The result was Fitzgerald's beautiful translation of the Rubáiyát. They have in preparation "The Diary and Letters of Madame D'Arblay," (Fanny Burney,) edited by Austin Dobson, to be brought out in six volumes with views and photogravure portraits; also, Maurice Hewlett's new book, "The Road in Tuscany," in two volumes, with upwards of 200 illustrations by Joseph Pennell. Miss Gwendolen Overton's "Captains of the World" will be one of the first and also one of the most important novels which the Macmillan Company will publish in the autumn. The heroine of this story of labor and capital is the daughter of a capitalist who is forced by her father into an engagement with a degenerate foreign prince. The hero is an honest, hard-working labor leader. They will publish for the Columbia University Press a volume of lectures delivered in Cooper Union by Professor John Bates Clark, on "The Problem of Monopoly: a Study of a Grave Danger and of the Natural Mode of Averting It." Dr. Clark, who is professor of political economy in Columbia University, and the author of "The Philosophy of Wealth," "The Distribution of Wealth," and "The Control of Trusts," treats of the growth of corporations, the sources of the corporation's "power for evil," great corporations and the law, organized labor and monopoly, agriculture and monopolies, and government monopolies. It is monopolies in general that he deals with, and not the so-called trusts.

When a clean-cut, intelligent looking man talks to you, he generally has something to say. It is good business to listen. Chances are you will learn something to your advantage.

Judge Alton B. Parker, the Democratic candidate for President, is that kind of a man, and his judicial record shows that he knows a legitimate business when he sees it, particularly one against which a false cry has been started. Here are the words used in a case decided by him:

"It will be seen . . . that this is a controversy between opponents in business. . . .

" . . . When one party finds himself overwhelmed by the strength of the position of the other, he looks about for aid. And quite often he turns to the courts, even when he has no merit of his own, . . . in the hope that the courts may be deceived into an adjudication that will prove helpful to him.

"Now, while the courts will not hesitate to enforce the law, . . . they will be careful not to allow the process of the courts to be made use of under a false cry . . . when its real purpose is to strengthen the strategic position of one competitor in business as against another."

Can any sane person doubt that, had Judge Parker been deciding a case involving the right to use the name of Noah Webster, applying it to a Webster's Dictionary, in which the complainants were G. & C. Merriam Co., that the same words would have sufficed? THEY COULD NOT DECEIVE Judge Parker of the N. Y. Supreme Court, and they did not deceive Justice Miller of the U. S. Supreme Court, who in deciding a case against them said:

"This proceeding is an attempt to establish the doctrine that a party who has had the copyright of a book until it has expired, may continue that monopoly indefinitely, under the pretense that it is protected by a trade-mark, or something of that sort. I do not believe in any such doctrine, nor do my associates.

"The copyright law gives an author or proprietor a monopoly of the sale of his writings for a definite period, but the grant of a monopoly implies that, after the monopoly has expired, the public shall be entitled ever afterwards to the unrestricted use of the book."

The plain truth is that G. & C. Merriam Co. have no more right to the name of Noah Webster than you have or I have or any one else has. I regret to have to use Merriams' name in an advertisement, but they have threatened the trade both by advertisements in this weekly and by circulars, and it is my desire to have you know the truth—not what they say. THEY have made the money out of Webster's Dictionary for 60 years, and NOW, FOR THE FIRST TIME, THEY FACE GENUINE COMPETITION. Of course, they don't like it. I didn't suppose they would. But it might be well for them to bear in mind the story of the dog who was crossing a stream and thought he saw another dog with a bigger piece of meat. The application is obvious.

George W. Ogilvie's New Webster's Imperial Dictionary is now ready for delivery. It's a better dictionary than Webster's International for half its price. If not, your money back for the asking. Isn't that fair?

LOVES OF EDWY

A ROMANCE OF TO-DAY

By ROSE CECIL O'NEILL

With over Sixty Illustrations by the Author. Beautifully bound, 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

Ready Aug. 29

Order At Once

THE two "Loves of Edwy" are his bosom friend and his sweetheart, and the fortunes of all three are woven into a romance of surpassing interest. Pathos and humor are exquisitely blended in this story. There is not a dull page in the book, and it may be confidently asserted that nothing so original has been produced in this country in many years. The sixty-four pictures by the author (who is well-known as an illustrator) add very greatly to the book's value.

FIVE LITTLE PEPPERS AND THEIR FRIENDS

By MARGARET SIDNEY

Author of the Famous Pepper Books "LITTLE MAID OF CONCORD TOWN," "SALLY, MRS. TUBBS," Etc.

Eight Illustrations by EUGENIE M. WIREMAN. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

To be Published September 1

THERE were so many interesting friends of the Five Little Peppers, whose lives were only the faintest of outlines in the series ending when Phronsie was grown up, that a volume devoted to this outer circle has been written to meet the persistent demand.

Herein the author records many happenings that long ago Ben and Tolly, Joel and David, told her. And even Phronsie whispered some of it confidentially into the listening ear.

LONG BRIDGE BOYS

By W. O. STODDARD, Author of "AHEAD OF THE ARMY," "JACK MORGAN," Etc. Four Illustrations by I. B. HAZELTON. 12mo, cloth, $1.25 postpaid. To be Published September 1.

IT tells the story of an actual attempt made by the Confederates of Virginia, just prior to the outbreak of the Civil War, to seize the city of Washington by force of arms and make prisoners of President Lincoln and other high government officials.

LOOKING FOR ALICE

By WALTER BURGESS SMITH. With over Forty Illustrations by C. HOWARD. 4to, cloth, $1.25 postpaid. To be Published September 1.

A LITTLE girl named Harriet descends through an old well into the land of dreams, to look for Alice of Wonderland, and meets with adventures no less astonishing than those of Alice herself.

DORIS FARRAND'S VOCATION

By ("PANSY") Mrs. G. R. ALDEN. Four Illustrations by ERNEST FOSBERY. 12mo, cloth, $1.50 postpaid.

DORIS is a college girl who tries to be of use to others, and with this aim in view introduces into her family, as student help, a poor young man who is working his way to a higher education. In the end Doris's protégé helps her to make the right decision in a great moral crisis, and she finds that he, and not her worldly-minded fiancé, is her true affinity.

LEVOLDT, and its supplements, 1876-84, 1884-90, 1890-95, and 1895-1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make reference easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consumer is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1896 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

"FOR PEOPLE WHO LAUGH"

Full of humor, classic in character. A book for which money orders are coming in a way to indicate that, through the mail, and agents who are buying it, it is to have a sale of a kind almost unheard of.

The book was the actual cause of the selection of the St. Louis nominee for President, but will not elect him.

Single copies, cloth bound $1.00. Paper covers, 50 cts. ADAIR WELCKER, - - 331 Pine Street, San Francisco, Cal.

Publishers' Trade List Annual

THERE remain only 135 copies of the original Index to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, a comprehensive alphabet covering 1100 pages, with which we shall bind up the Supplementary Index, in an additional alphabet, to the new publications in the Trade List Annuals of 1903 and 1904. This will make a volume from 1350 to 1400 pages—which should be on the shelves of every book-store and every library which does not possess a copy of the original Index of 1902. This "Combined Index, 1902-1904," as it is known, will be furnished, to the extent of 135 copies—"first come, first served"—at a rate of $6.00, cloth-bound, previous to publication, which price will probably be increased on the publication of the Supplementary Index, which is furnished separately at the price of $2.50. To those who are unacquainted with this invaluable work of reference, sample pages will be sent on request, or provisional orders will be entered for sending a copy of the work on approval, carriage paid, in case the edition is not exhausted at the time of publication.
